WHAT DOES AESOP MEAN FOR BUSINESS MANAGERS?

Real Value.

With school districts feeling the squeeze of budget crunches, we understand your need to find solutions that provide maximum value.

That's why we developed Aesop. By working with hundreds of school district business officials, we understand and can address concerns like these:

"Our budget is tight. Any system we purchase needs to basically pay for itself."

Aesop saves hours of manual sub-calling, often reducing the need for live scheduling personnel. Aesop also helps you better manage expenses by automatically capturing data and providing graphical analysis of important trends. The visibility of absence data increases teacher accountability, cutting "casual" absences and saving on sub pay. And by achieving fill rates often at 100%, you can avoid paying teachers to cover unfilled classes.

"We need spend less time and resources on our payroll process."

Aesop provides pre-built and custom integrations that entirely automate data flow from Aesop to payroll applications, savings several days spent on data entry and reducing the risk of mistakes. All reports and policy settings are customized to reflect your business rules. Aesop also helps your district fight unemployment claims by providing easy access to call history.

"Our district is too small for an automated sub placement system."

Aesop's Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) model is scaled to your district's size, so you pay only for the number of employees actually using the system. Aesop has no hardware or software to purchase or maintain, and your subscription remains steady over time, without costly upgrades. In fact, we regularly release free, instant enhancements that benefit our entire client base.

"We can't risk unreliable programs. What assurances do we have with Aesop?"

We pioneered and patented the technology now used by nearly 3,000 districts nationwide. Hundreds of these districts have switched to Aesop from other systems. Since we have a proven record of reliable functionality and exceptional customer service, we offer Aesop with no long-term contracts—you can cancel your subscription at any time.

For business managers, Aesop means a significant way to cut costs and increase efficiency in your district.

"Our district had given up on the various automated systems because the cost was prohibitive for districts our size. Finally, a program is available that offers exceptional service...yet is affordable."
